OLD BUSINESS

1. Borough Broadcaster - Winter

Tiffany Brouillet wrote an article on Spring Cleaning for the Borough Broadcaster. Zoe Warner will work on getting one for the Spring Broadcaster in regards to the Homegrown National Park Initiative.

2. Community Composting Program

Tiffany Brouillet presented and answered all questions from Borough Council. The Composting Pilot program was approved by Council and has been sent out via Constant Contact and our Winter Newsletter. We currently have about 25 residents who have responded they would like to take part in the pilot.

3. Bird Town Application

Zoë Warner will be presenting this to Borough Council on February 21, 2023.

4. Rain Garden – Protection

Assistant Manager Corinne Badman advised the post and rail fence was installed in Quann Park two weeks ago. The fence is taller at the top of the Rain Garden for safety reasons off the sidewalk and lower around the plantings at the bottom. This will hopefully keep bikers from entering the Rain Garden and damaging the plantings.

5. Stormwater Master Plan

Zoe Warner will be presenting this to Borough Council on February 21, 2023.

6. Homegrown National Park Initiative

Christine Hafer presented to the Shade Tree Commission at their last meeting. They wanted more information on the initiative that she could not answer at the time. The STC was not interested in updating the tree list for the ordinance. They get their information from the Horticultural Society and believe some native trees could no longer survive in the current environment.

Zoe Warner spoke to the Malvern Library and they were interested in doing a book club to support the initiative. Library will order book, "Natures Best Hope" and would be happy to put a flyer in the book about the Homegrown Initiative.

The EAC discussed speaking with the Historical Commission regarding labeling trees as historical and have the Shade Tree Commission assist in finding out the age of the tree. We could possibly dedicate the tree with a sign or plaque.
