Malvern Borough Happenings

Borough Council Member Appointed

Borough Council appointed Dr. Zoe Warner, Ph.D. at their July 18, 2023 meeting. Council Member Marty Laney recently resigned as of May 31, 2023. Dr. Warner will be entitled to hold the office until a successor is elected at the November 7, 2023 municipal general election.

Malvern Borough Post Office Stormwater Capital Improvement Project:

The Malvern Borough Post Office recently renewed their lease for five (5) years extending their contract and services in Malvern Borough until September 2028. The Post Office underwent a major stormwater capital improvement project to alleviate flooding that was occurring due to failing stormwater infrastructure.

A total of $9,500 was approved and utilized in American Rescue Plant Act (ARPA) funding to pay for a portion of the work, as well as receiving $41,984.74 from the Borough's insurance carrier, resulting in $13,828.63 being paid out of Malvern Borough's Capital Expenditures to retain this important asset to the Malvern Borough Community. The total spent on the project to date is $65,313.37.

Main Street Revitalization Task Force

Borough Council appointed a five (5) member Main Street Revitalization Task Force at their June 6, 2023 meeting pursuant to Resolution No. 845. There were a total of eleven (11) application submissions. The Task Force members are Chairman Eric Rea, Vice Chair Christy Campli, Secretary Tina Corrado, Lynne D. Frederick, and Meghan Miller. The Main Street Revitalization Task Force is responsible for creating a recommendation to Borough Council on how best to address the revitalization of King Street and working closely with the Malvern Business Professional Association to ensure a successful outcome.

The Main Street Revitalization Task Force meetings are open to the public located at Borough Hall on the Second Floor in the Main Meeting Room. Please consider attending and offering your input!!

Meeting Schedule:

Borough Trash Update & Composting in the Borough

The Borough Trash Contract, which was up for renewal July 1, 2023, was going to increase exponentially from our previous contract we had 5 years ago. The cost for two times per week service would have been an almost $200,000 increase. The bids we received came in higher all around, but in order to keep the cost down, we reached out to residents receive feedback on a once a week pickup. The consensus from all who reached out to the Borough or those who came to our Council Meetings, was to switch to a one time per week pickup to avoid raising taxes or to have residents pay a yearly fee. The saving to a once a week service was $133,263, this kept us close to the cost we had incurred during our previous contract. Unfortunately, this came at a bad time for trash haulers in general. A.J. Blosenski, who was the lowest bidder and awarded the contract, is going through an ownership transition and had over 20 drivers in our area retire. They are working to hire more help and have brought in drivers from other areas to assist. This has resulted in some confusion on what will be picked up and which are the appropriate containers/bags to place it in. We are working with Blosenski to rectify the problems And ask for patience during this transition. This contract was not an easy decision for Council to make and we have tried to communicate with residents, in different capacities, the issues all local townships and boroughs are facing due to the economic climate we are in, when making contract decisions. We appreciate our residents letting us know their concerns and difficulties. We will do our best to work with both Blosenski and our community to help the situation. In the meantime, if you have any concerns or a missed pick up, please email us at malvern@malvern.org

In January 2023, we sent a notice out to residents to volunteer for our Composting Pilot Program with Back to Nature Composting. We looked for 50 households who would be interested in composting for the year, free of charge, to see how it would affect both the environment and reduce trash. The first quarter report came in and the numbers were amazing! Participants were able to compost 4,638 pounds of trash so far! We will continue to gather data over the year and see how much of a positive impact this has on our Borough. If you are interested in composting, visit Back to Earth Composting at backtoearthcompost.com.

Shade Tree Commission

Do you like to hear singing birds? Plant a native tree!

All trees provide major benefits to our community. They provide cooling shade in the face of very hot summers, even lowering the temperature of the streets in front of our homes as much as 30 degrees on a hot summer day. They lessen the strain and expense of our air conditioners and lower our energy usage. Trees absorb water runoff, acting much like a giant sponge—drawing in water during our deluges and using it slowly over time. They provide beauty and a nesting place for our birds. They sequester carbon in their wood and roots, and provide oxygen for us to breathe.

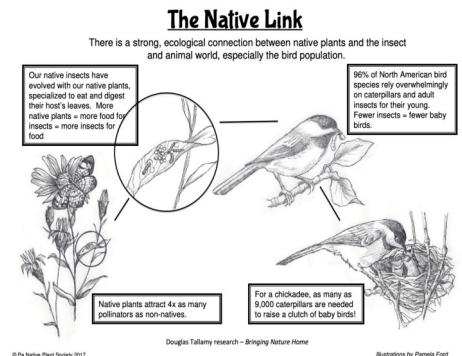

AND, if you plant a native tree, you can do even more for our birds and other wildlife. Here's how it works:

It's difficult to imagine how many insects are needed to support our cardinals, titmice, catbirds, sparrows, chickadees and bluebirds. And if you want to keep these birds in your yard, there are key "bird feeder" trees that will support them the most.

Choose white oak trees (Quercus alba), American plum, black cherry and chokecherry (Prunus), River birch (Betula nigra), Sugar or Silver maple (Acer), crabapple (Malus) and willow (Salix). These trees support the caterpillar species that enable our birds to reproduce and raise their young. You have so many options, and your bird friends will thank you.

For those of you who have planted a tree in the last 12 – 18 months, please remember to keep it watered during hot, dry weeks. This spring's drought was especially hard on young trees. And if you would like to plant a free tree in your yard, contact the Shade Tree Commission at malvernstc@malvern.org. In cooperation with the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, we can provide Malvern residents with a free tree.

Malvern Police Department

Summer heat has arrived and our Malvern Officers are working hard so you don't have to sweat the small stuff.

We kicked off the summer with the 155th year of the Memorial Parade. We hope if you attended, you enjoyed it as much as we did. Our Officers look forward to these events and enjoyed spending time interacting with our residents and visitors who come to watch.

In June and July, Malvern Police and surrounding municipalities responded to multiple reports of vehicles being entered and rummaged through. Most vehicles were left unlocked and rummaged through, a few had items taken. Please remember to always lock your vehicles and to not keep any valuables in sight. If you have an outside camera make sure they are charged and working. Extreme hot and cold temperatures reduce battery life, so check often. If you plan on being away, make sure your windows and doors are closed and locked. Have mail delivery put on hold or have a friend and/or family member pick it up for you, and notify the Malvern Police that you will be away. We do house checks so you can enjoy your time away and know Malvern Officers are always on the lookout!

Don't fall victim to a scam!

Anyone asking for personal information like Social Security number, bank information or telling you to avoid an arrest you must pay now by purchasing a gift card or wire money, this is a scam. Do not go to Walgreens to wire money or money transfer. Law enforcement does not accept money wiring, or accept gift cards. Notify Malvern Police if you receive such a call.

If you receive a call where your child or grandchild has been arrested in another State or Country and you need to wire money for them to get an attorney, chances are this too is a scam.

Click here for more information on what you can do to protect yourself and file a complaint.

With the nicer weather you may have seen our Bike Patrol Officers riding through the neighborhood. The bike allows officers to access some areas that are not always easily accessible with patrol vehicles and our officers are enjoying the rides and exercise!

Car Seat Safety!

Officer Keating was recently trained and certified as a National Child Passenger Safety Technician. If you would like to have your car seat inspected and checked for proper installation you need to schedule an appointment, please use this form.

Alarm Registration & Emergency Contact Forms

As a reminder, all residential and business alarms are to be registered annually. If you are a business owner and do not have an alarm, we still require you to complete the registration form with Emergency contact information. Please make sure you complete these forms with all current information. If a contact changes during the year, please let us know. You can send in an updated form anytime during the year. The registration form can be found on the Malvern Borough website homepage under Forms & Permits. Alarm Registration and Emergency Contact Form.

Once again we would like to thank all of residents and local business owners for their constant support to our department. We are proud to serve the community whom we swore to protect and hope you will call us if the need arises.

For emergencies, call 911 and for non-emergencies call 610.647.1440. Follow us on our Facebook and Instagram pages

Malvern Fire Company

Thank You!

The members of the Fire Company would like to thank everyone for their support so far this year, The Ambulance Subscription Service, The Annual Fund Drive, and our Annual Fair. Fire and EMS stats for the first six months of 2023, Fire Runs 179, EMS runs 1018.

If you need additional information and any of the services provided by the Fire Company, please reach out to us by calling the station, at 610-647-0693, website www.malvernfireco.com, or email up at Info@malvernfireco.com

Members Wanted!

The Malvern Fire Company is always looking for many new members to support our mission. We have many different types of membership that we are looking to fill for our community's needs. You do not need to be certified to join nor do you need to live within our response area to be a member! We will provide the proper training and equipment that you need.

The first step to joining the department is to submit a membership application and bring it to the fire company during any Tuesday of any month at 7pm. Our station is located at 424 E. King Street, Malvern, PA. When you turn in your application, a background check will be performed which usually takes about thirty (30) days

Property Maintenance in Malvern

Hedges, Bushes, Flowers and Trees Along Sidewalks, Walkways

As the hedges, bushes and flowers grow along the sidewalk at your property; please make sure that they don't spread where they obstruct the sidewalk. This makes it difficult, not to mention dangerous, for pedestrians who use the sidewalks. In addition, where vegetation is planted near road intersections, it's important to keep them trimmed back and low, so they don't become a sight hazard to motorists attempting to go through those intersections. If you have trees that hang over your sidewalk, please make sure that there is at least 8 feet clearance from the sidewalk to the bottom of those branches.

Malvern Historical Commission

We congratulate the Malvern Fire Company on what looked to us to be a very successful fair this July. As usual, our commissioners canceled our regular meeting to attend the fair, play bingo, ride the old fire truck, and eat fried Oreos! Congrats also go out to our friend Sara, who won our raffle basket at the fair!

As September approaches, this means several special events coming up for the commission:

1. Malvern History Center open hours, August 19, 2-4pm, on the second floor of McGuigan Hall at 1 E First Ave. Future dates to be announced. Please follow us on Facebook or Instagram @MalvernBoroHistory for more times.
2. The presentation of our annual Preservation Awards, at a Borough Council meeting date to be determined.
3. Malvern's Craft & Mercantile night in Burke Park, September 15, 4:30-8:30pm (table event).

Paoli Battlefield Preservation Fund's Heritage Day, September 23, 11am-4pm (table event).

At both table events and during our history center open hours, we will have our items for sale: reprinted postcards, anniversary coins, coloring books, and the 3 books written by our late historian, Nancy B. Schmitt. We may even have a few of our limited edition borough blankets left! If you are interested in making a purchase and can't make one of the above events, please email us at MalvernBoroHistory@malvern.org to arrange a meeting.

While we are a borough-appointed entity, your purchases make it possible for us to continue improvements in our History Center, and inspires us to keep researching more information for future publications.

We meet on the second and fourth Tuesday nights of each month, and our meetings are public. You may attend in person at McGuigan Hall or on Zoom.

Keep this date in mind: November 26, 2023. This is the 150th anniversary of the Pennsylvania Railroad Commission naming our train station "Malvern!" How would you like us to celebrate this date? If you have any ideas how to commemorate this date or Malvern memories of any kind to share, please feel welcome to email the address above!

As always, we encourage and support our other borough history preservation groups. The Paoli Battlefield Preservation fund has events coming up (including one of Chester County's Town Tours and Village Walks, on its rescheduled date of August 24th), and the Paoli Memorial Association's annual membership meeting September 23rd. We Need Your Help!

Light pollution is the excessive or inappropriate use of artificial outdoor light that impacts natural nighttime light conditions. Light pollution can negatively affect human health and wildlife behavior, can limit our ability to observe stars and enjoy the beauty of the night sky, and can actually make our streets less safe.

The Malvern Planning Commission is working on a plan to reduce light pollution throughout the Borough. And we need your help! If you have noticed areas or residences in the Borough that appear to be too bright and/or are reflecting light passed lot lines and into the sky, please let us know. This information will be helpful as we move forward in developing a lighting plan for our town. You can email Malvern@malvern.org to report it.

Together, we can make appropriate lighting choices that keep our streets safe with less disruption to the natural nighttime rhythms.

Sustainable Secondhand Style

Great style does not have to be costly. As you prepare for back-to-school shopping and summer closet clean-outs, you can save money and help the environment by going to local secondhand stores.

According to Earth.org, "the Average US Consumer Throws Away 81.5lbs of Clothes Every Year." That clothing ends up in landfills and can take several months or years (depending on the material) to biodegrade. So, what is the biggest problem with buying new clothes? Fast fashion. Buying cheap, stylish mass-produced clothes may seem like a great idea—who doesn't love a trendy bargain?----- but these items are often poor quality and only worn for a short time, so they get typically get thrown away.

You can make a difference by supporting local businesses that take donations and offer consignments. Also, many online resale websites allow you the convenience of shopping from home. These options offer quality clothing at a good price and you can sometimes make money by reselling your items.

For back-to-school shopping, secondhand fashion is a perfect option for children. First, you can resell kid and teen clothes at local stores such as Once Upon a Child in Exton and Plato's Closet (Exton & Paoli). Some stores give incentives such as discounts in-store when you donate items. Additionally, since kids outgrow clothes before they're worn out, secondhand shopping is an opportunity to teach your child about the importance of donating their clothes and reducing their fashion footprint.

For adults, there are several consignment and thrift stores in Chester County. These include Goodwill, Maria Fe's and G&G Unique Consignment Boutique in Malvern as well as the Fashion Xchange in Paoli. You can donate or consign your pre-loved fashion at these stores, allowing the opportunity for someone else to create new memories with the items.

However, if you prefer the convenience of online shopping, there is Facebook Marketplace and ThredUP. ThredUP's belief is "Thrifting is about more than just finding amazing deals on your favorite brands. It's about shopping with intention, rejecting throwaway fashion culture, and standing for sustainability." It is also easy to consign with them online as they will send you prepaid postage for your pre-owned clothes.

When it comes to fashion, why not try secondhand style? You are saving money, and helping to reduce waste as well as the impact on our natural resources. So as you clean out your summer wardrobe and prepare for fall, think of how much fun and beneficial "thrifting" can be as you browse through the racks. Many affordable treasures await you!

Parks and Recreation

HOW CAN I MAKE THE MOST OUT OF MY GARDEN

All kinds of books and articles have been written over the years regarding making our gardens and yards and general space around our homes as environmentally friendly, ecologically protective and sustainable. But how does one get through all the information to really have a basic understanding of what a healthy yard/garden looks like?

What can your yard offer? Sure, there is something satisfying to see a well-groomed, perfectly mowed yard- but did you know that sharing just a small portion of that ground with nature's wild-life we can increase by bounds the beauty and biodiversity that that space offers. Transforming a corner or an edge with native plant gardens will bring the color and majesty of birds and butterflies and insects and other creatures to your home. Not only can it be a spectacular sight, but you will be revolutionizing your space into a true national park- right in your backyard!! Instead of cleaning up all the debris found in the yard- use it to give shelter or breeding grounds to a multitude of animals. Ladybugs and lacewings nest in the dry sheltered crowns of native grasses. A downed piece of tree bark can be home to hundreds of insects and arachnoids. And it will add organic beauty to the yard. Don't be so quick to do the spring and fall cleanup in your yard. There are creatures that nestle under leaves and other dead vegetation during the cold months.

Creating an eco-friendly space doesn't have to cost you a thing. Before you run out to the local plant nursery or hardware store, see what already exists in your garden. Then take a walkabout in your neighborhood. One of the secrets of gardeners is that they generally love to share clippings from their gardens. Stop and chat with your neighbors about what is in their garden, what birds and butterflies they are able to attract.

Parks and Recreation

Share plant clippings. These clippings will generally be comfortable in the soil at your home and grow well. Spread them out to give them space to multiple. Use your garden tools or use your fingers. My neighbor showed me that it is ok to play in the dirt and dig with your fingers!! And my clippings have thrived!

Finding the right plants and shrubs for your garden space is the key to having an environmentally healthy yard. Planting and harvesting species native to your area will keep your landscape in healthy balance with nature. You can make a match between the plant you choose and the insect or caterpillar or butterfly or bird that you want to attract. You can add color by choosing which animals are attracted to your garden. Choose plants for which animals will pollinate with them. Also- don't forget to use nature as your hardscaping- tree bark, stones, dead or out of season grasses, etc. Animals use these organic materials to nestle in for shelter and protection.

Why native instead of invasive (including tropical, ornamental and exotic) plant species? "To improve a yard's ability to support life, we must use plant species that successfully create the ecological interest on which other life depends" - Douglas Tallamy, Nature's Best Hope. Plants native to the region share an evolutionary history with the plant and animal communities in the ecoregion or "biome" that you are creating. Invasive species simply put- do not play well with others! Invasives outcompete other species for light, water, nutrients, space and generally have no natural enemies to restrain them, causing great damage to the delicate ecosystem. For plant wildlife, it is devastating. Insects, birds, etc have highly specialized dietary needs and are generally restricted to eating either one or just a few plant lineages. Creating a novel ecosystem with invasive species, therefore, can have long lasting devastating consequences. A Fun Fact- monarch butterflies have adapted to the very important native milkweed. Milkweed produces a toxic protein when eaten by insects. Monarch butterflies, though, have adapted to the toxin and the native species milkweed has become its main source of food. After ingesting the milkweed, the toxin causes the monarch to taste horrible to its predators! This has become the main survival tool for this beautiful garden insect.

A number of national databases have been painstakingly created as tools for which native species are best in your area. These allow you to look up native plants according to your zip code: <http://www.nwf.org/NativePlantFinder> and <http://www.Audobon.org/NativePlants>

Some native plant ideas for the 19355 zip code:

Black Eyed Susan: Attracts woodpeckers, sparrows, nuthatches

Bluebell-of-Scotland or Witches Thimble: Attracts wood warblers, orioles, mocking birds

American Witch Hazel or Winterbloom-: Attracts finches, jays and grosbeaks

Milkweed: Attracts monarch butterflies

Sugarberry: Attracts hackberry emperor butterflies

Willow or Salix: Attracts 368 species of butterflies and moths

Camphorweed Sweetscent:: Attracts 3 species other species of butterflies and moths
